

Wildlife

By Lila, Alex and Baydah

Trees falling,
Koalas bawling
Homes disappearing,
All because of us

Fires roaring,
Smoke rising
It's not fair,
We must care

Car's speeding, as fast as flash
Koalas gone, in a dash,
But still, life goes on
With flames coming upon

Our home, Victoria
In this place, Australia
May look exciting
But they are silently fighting
And if we don't make a change
Our place will age
It's slowly dying
While the koalas are crying

Infested with flames
People think it's a game
Up in the Grampians
Firefighters are the only champions

Koalas gone every minute
Most of them live in spirit
Not many left, we cause the theft
While they take their last breath

What have we done
This is no fun
We're taking their lives
We're taking their homes
How would you feel
